The EU supported City-zen Roadshow help's cities come to a sustainable urban future by placing citizens in the heart of the creative design process. A process that graphically describes that energy productive, socially enjoyable zero carbon lifestyles and cities are possible.

Whose it for?

All citizens, no matter what background or expertise.

What's it for?

To show what's sustainably possible in the existing built environment.

Why?

To help ensure a healthier, enjoyable and zero carbon city for Nicosian families.
